Dear Dr. Burling

So far I haven't found any new Sterling information to report, but your last letter has more data for me & deserves an immediate answer. I didn't think you were wondering about my Kleming connections so I guess
I hadn't mentioned that side.
So here is a chart diagram based on family information & what you have sent.

My grandmother was Ruth Kleming, second wife of Charles Sterling. I don't know when he married Ann Smith or when she died.

It had never occurred to me that George Briden Fleming might have been married before he married Thomas' widow, not even when I couldn't figure out how Mrs.
Fittler's mother could be a grand daughter of Briden Fleming.
That straightens out a few things & makes me third cousin to some of the Fleming descendants.

My grandmother was daughter of Thomas Fleming, Briden's twin brother.
Until I received your chart I had only heard "Briden" & didn't know his first name was George. Now I find him in the 1850 Census as George B. & is probably the George B who had the Sterling farm for a while. Incidentally Fleming is spelled with 2 m's in the 1850 & 1860 Censuses.

Many thanks for the diagram.

Sincerely
Sterling

HARTLEY FLEMING

A life-long resident of Amherst Island, where he was born 81 years ago, Hartley Fleming died in the Kingston General Hospital. His funeral was held from his old home in which his only son now lives, to Glenwood Cemetery, with Rev. Wood Williston, officiating.

Mr. Fleming was an Anglican in religion and was for some years warden of St. Alban's Church, at Stella. A son of the late Robert and Deborah Fleming, deceased leaves to mourn, his wife, formerly Mary Instant, his son, Ernest, and daughter-in-law, Genevieve; three grandchildren, Harry, Shirley and Winnifred; also his sisters, Mrs. Margaret Pringle and Mrs. Hattie Asselstine, of Kingston.

The pall-bearers were J. F. Fleming, Donald Miller, Irwin Henderson, Bert Glenn, Robert Glenn and Maurice Hogeboom.

John Fleming (March, 1889) (pencilled)

The subject of this memoir was born in the Township of Camden, Ont., in the year 1836, and died in peace at his late residence, Mill Haven, Ont., on March 31st, 1889, with that fatal disease, consumption. A few weeks prior to his death his oldest daughter, Lyda, wife of Mr. Walter Forward, was taken ill. She, too, soon joined her father in the skies. They were both interred in one grave at Bath cemetery.

The Flemings were weavers from France, and there were twin sons - George and Thomas. George settled on the present Fleming farm in the 3rd Concessions, cutting a home out of the woods. He married Eliza Finnegan. Twins were born to James and Mary Smith, and to Elizabeth and Sydney Pringle. Robert married Deborah Henderson. Her mother was born in a Castle in Ireland, ran away and married Davy Henderson when she was 17. They had five children born in Ireland, then they came to Canada, and Amherst Island on a sailing vessel. It took them six weeks to make the trip, and they came to the South Shore of the Island. Another son was born after they came here.

Death of Hugh Fleming.

Stella, April 4.--The snow is disappearing and the roads are in bad condition. Saturday last Hugh Fleming passed peacefully away after a long illness (and painful). He suffered from a cancer and at times his pain was severe, but he bore his affliction with patience and christian fortitude, knowing that rest would come. Deceased was fifty-eight years old and leaves a wife, three sons and a married daughter to mourn his loss. He had lived in the village for many years, was a kind neighbor and highly respected. The funeral was conducted Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Orser and was well attended.
